

This model sketched especially for The Day Book in the studio of Madam Bailey of the Fashion Art League of America is one you may safely follow in selecting a one-piece gown.

The material is tricotine and in the new autumn shade, maple leaf red;

black leatherette ribbon trims the skirt and bodice.

The high collar is modified to a becoming height; the serpentine cuffs with the outstanding pleats harmonize with the severe lines of the gown. The bodice blouses in a graceful fullness.
